

Questions for Evaluating Sources

- What are the author's qualifications and possible intentions and biases?
- Are the teachings or events in this source presented in the proper context of their time, place, and circumstance?
- How closely connected is the author to the events being described?
- Are the ideas and teachings in this source supported by additional reliable sources?
- How do the ideas and teachings in this source compare to truths of the restored gospel of Jesus Christ as taught in the scriptures and by modern prophets?
- What do the impressions and promptings of the Holy Ghost tell me?

- What are the author's qualifications and possible intentions and biases?
- Are the teachings or events in this source presented in the proper context of their time, place, and circumstance?
- How closely connected is the author to the events being described?
- Are the ideas and teachings in this source supported by additional reliable sources?
- How do the ideas and teachings in this source compare to truths of the restored gospel of Jesus Christ as taught in the scriptures and by modern prophets?
- What do the impressions and promptings of the Holy Ghost tell me?

- What are the author's qualifications and possible intentions and biases?
- Are the teachings or events in this source presented in the proper context of their time, place, and circumstance?
- How closely connected is the author to the events being described?
- Are the ideas and teachings in this source supported by additional reliable sources?
- How do the ideas and teachings in this source compare to truths of the restored gospel of Jesus Christ as taught in the scriptures and by modern prophets?
- What do the impressions and promptings of the Holy Ghost tell me?