Do you live on a deserted island?

Yes! → No worries! Your first convert is yourself! Keep studying the gospel until the rescue boat arrives!

Uh, no. → Yay! People! You're well on your way!

Do your family and friends know you're a member of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints?

Absolutely! I make sure everyone knows! → Have you invited friends or family to come to Church with you or take missionary lessons?

I've done that before! / Uh, no.

No. It hasn't come up.

Have you invited them to a stake dance? Ward party? Other fun activity?

Naturally. / No way!

Did they accept your invitation?

Yes! / Nope.

We don't get to decide if others will accept our invitations, but we can INVITE.

Which do you take better care of: Your best friend? Or your favorite sweater?

Would you let your friend borrow your favorite sweater?

Of course! → Aww, that's LOVE. Showing love and kindness to others is a way to stand as a witness of Jesus Christ.

C'mon! It's my favorite sweater!

Friends, duh! I would do almost anything for them!

Fair enough. But I bet you'd be willing to tell them where you got it and what a good deal you scored?

No way!

Yup! I love talking to my friends.

Being a good example is a great way to share your love for the Savior with others!

Not sure I'm ready for that, but I try to be a good example.

How about talking to them about your testimony?

Why wouldn't I? It's my most prized possession.

Jesus Christ saves us from sorrow and suffering of all kinds. When you SHARE truth that uplifts others, you help them come unto Him.

CONGRATULATIONS! YOU ARE SHARING THE GOSPEL OF JESUS CHRIST!
