

My Baptism Day

By Megan S., age 10,
Michoacán, Mexico

Hello! My name is Megan, and I live in Mexico. I want to tell you about a very special time in my life—the day I was baptized.

I was baptized on my eighth birthday. It was a very important day because I celebrated my birthday by being baptized.

Getting baptized was a beautiful experience. My mom made me a notebook with different activities to prepare. It helped me learn about the importance of baptism and the covenants I would make with Heavenly Father.

Many people who love me came to my baptism. I felt very happy that they came. I wore a white dress, and the water was warm.

After my dad baptized me, I dried off and changed clothes. Then I received the gift of the Holy Ghost. I was confirmed a member of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints by holders of the priesthood. I felt so much peace, love, and joy.

I will always remember that day. It was very special because I made my first covenant with God. I promised to follow Jesus and obey His commandments.

If you are nervous about what your baptism day will be like, don't worry. Heavenly Father will be happy about the choice you made! ●
